City manager supporters issue debate challenge

The Concerned Citizens for Sikeston organization has issued a challenge for a televised debate to backers of the drive to change the present form of city government.

Dan Norton, chairman of the group issuing the challenge, has sent a letter asking for a debate to Robert Dempster, the attorney who has spoken in the past for the group which gathered enough signatures of people favoring an end to the city manager form of government in Sikeston to call a special election on the issue Sept. 21.

Norton said the letter is addressed to Dempster, but that copies will be sent to Arthur Bruce, a former police chief; Joe Cravens, a former mayor; and Tris Marshall, a supporter of the petition drive.

Norton proposed that the debate be held at 6:30 p.m. Sept. 14 on Channel 6, the channel used by the Sikeston school system for its cable television station programming.

School Supt. Sam Harbin said the City Council has not formally asked for permission to use the channel for the debate, but he indicated the school system would agree, provided both sides of the issue are aired.

Harbin said that if one of the groups refuses to participate, the school system cannot let the other side use the channel.

Members of the local news media will be asked to serve as panelists and the Rev. Dr. Arthur Fulbright will serve as moderator, according to Scott Matthews, who has been helping put the debate together.

Matthews said the debate would give local voters an opportunity to familiarize themselves with the real issues involved in the upcoming election, and he urged local voters to watch the debate so they may choose between the two forms of government from an informed position.

U.S. unemployment increases in August

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate increased for the third month in a row in August, edging up from 7.8 to 7.9 per cent, the highest level so far this year, the government said today.

At the same time, the Labor Department said the increase in the number of Americans with jobs slowed last month after sizeable gains earlier this year. Employment rose by 74,000 in August to 88 million out of a work force of 95.5 million, after a gain of 400,000 in July.

There were some bright spots in the job picture, including a 240,000 increase in non-farm employment and improvement in the unemployment rate for adult men, usually the family bread-winner.

And the unemployment rate climbed at a slower pace than in June and July. After gradually falling since the spring of 1975, joblessness jumped a half a percentage point in June and July, followed by the one-tenth of a per cent hike in August.

In August, the number of people without work increased by about 80,000 to 7.5 million, the largest since 7.8 million couldn't find work last December.

The increase in joblessness has thrust unemployment onto center stage as a key issue in this fall's presidential election campaign.

The increases have raised new fears among economists over the path of the ecnomic recovery, and could create serious political problems for President Ford, who in campaigning for election, has adopted moderate economic policies to avoid a resurgence in inflation.

The Democrats and their presidential nominee, Jimmy Carter, have made jobs their No. 1 issue and are calling for new measures to reduce unemployment.

In addition, AFL-CIO President George Meany is blasting the Ford administration on the issue. In his Labor Day message, Meany said that "true unemployment — counting those perons who have given up looking for work or have accepted parttime work — is 10.3 per cent.

Since reaching its recession low in March, 1975, employment has grown by 3.9 million, or an average monthly increase over the 17-month span of nearly 230,000.

The unemployment rate is based on a nationwide survey of some 47,000 households. A more accurate but less extensive survey is made of the business establishments, which showed in August that non-farm payrolls were up by 240,000 to 79.4 million.

The government said employment increases occurred in about 60 per cent of 172 private non-farm industries surveyed. Manufacturing payrolls were up by 85,000 in August, in part due to settlement of several strikes.

Most of the increase in unemployment last month was among young females, aged 17 to 24. The teenage jobless rate, which had beendeclining gradually since the beginning of the year, jumped from 18.1 to 19.7 per cent.

Jobless rates for adult men declined from 6.1 per cent to 5.9 per cent. The rate of adult women was virtually unchanged at 7.7 per cent, while the rate for household heads dropped from 5.4 to 5.2 per cent.

The average length of unemployment showed little change in August at 15.5 weeks.

1,200 at cooking school

Two home economists for the Southern Kitchens Cooking School, Pat Pittman and Gail Ligon of Dallas, Tex., cooked up a variety of taste- tempting dishes at the Sikeston High School Field House Thursday night before an audience estimated at 1,200 people.

The occasion was the second annual Southern Kitchens Cooking School held in Sikeston under joint sponsorship of The Daily Standard and Progressive Farmer magazine.

The cooks prepared a variety of dishes, ranging from crepes to chocolate mousse, and occasionally called individuals out of the audience to sample dishes or try their hand at cooking some of them.

The cooks and their two assistants, Vicki Allen of Kennett and Janet Lee of Benton, worked most of the day preparing food for the cooking demonstrations. The preparations were made at nearby Wesley United Methodist Church, whose pastor, the Rev. Jerry Statler, volunteered to allow the cooks use of the church dining facilities.

At the end of the show, door prizes donated by local merchants were given away to members of the audience. Donating prizes were Lindsey's M & H, Coffey Appliance, Otasco, Lewis Furnitue Co., Penneys, Falkoff's, Buckner Ragsdale Co., Moore's Ace Hardware, Magic Mart, Wal-Mart, Big K, Homestead Distributing Co., Osco Drug and P. J.'s Supply Co.

Now, what do I do with this?

Thieves enter Oran business

ORAN— Thieves entered the Kenneth Ransdell Insurance Agency sometime Wednesday night and stole $15.

Ransdell reported the break-in at 8:10 a.m. Thursday to the Scott County Sheriff's Department.

Upon investigation, Deputy Roger Bartolo said the building was entered by removing an air conditioner from a window.

The sheriff's department is continuing its investigation.

TV, cash stolen

EAST PRAIRIE — A color television and approximately $35 in cash were taken Wednesday night or early Thursday morning during a break-in at the Church of God and the church parsonage on North Washington Drive.

The burglary was the third this year at the church.

The church was entered by twisting off a back door lock, the same method used in several burglaries of homes in East Prairie during the past month.

Files in the church office were rifled in an apparent search for additional money, but the building was not vandalized.

The parsonage, adjoining the church, was entered through a side window. The home was ransacked but only the television set has been reported missing. The pastor, the Rev. Bill G. Porter, and his family were away from home when the burglary occurred.

Police are investigating.

Ditch controversy continues

BLOOMFIELD — During part of Thursday's County Court session, it appeared that the controversy over a three- mile stretch of ditch in North Stoddard County would be reduced to personalities.

Four men and two women from the southern part of the area in question attended the court session and opposed the project to clean out a portion of the ditch.

They said the problem is sand washing into the ditch from land toward the north end of the area. It was suggested that the only land owners who would get any benefit would be those in the north end and it would be unfair to make those in the south end pay.

Angry comments were made to the court until it was discovered that a reporter was present. The woman who seemed to be the spokesman for the group, and who refused to be identified, then softened her language.

She said some of her best friends lived in the north part of the area and that she did not want to create any hard feelings, but her group still wanted out of the district.

She said the group of landowners at the south end of the ditch are not against the drainage district, but they don't want to be in it because they feel they will not get any benefits out of it.

Members of the group, however, in July submitted a petition to the court asking it to disolve the district. The Court voted in August against that action and to continue with the planned work.

Last week the landowners submitted 12 separate petitions covering different parcels of land, asking the court to "cancel and remove the benefits placed on the land", effectively removing it from the district.

The court will hold a public hearing next Thursday to determine whether the land should be removed.

The work to clear the stretch of ditch was agreed on in June and will cost about $18,000.

The cost will be divided among landowners in the district, based on the assessed benefits of each.

Lemons Gravel Co. of Dexter will do the work. It has filed a 100 per cent performance bond with the office of County Clerk John Marvin Capps.

Presiding Judge Ermer Garner said Thursday he would be in favor of disbanding the district. When the vote was taken in August, associate judges Jack Ward of Bloomfield Route One and Pete Snider of Dexter Route Three voted to keep the distict in tact.

Garner did not vote at that time. He said Thursday that was, in effect a vote for dissolution.

Thieves take narcotics

CHARLESTON — A quantity of narcotics of undetermined value was stolen Thursday night during a burglary at O'Neal & Howard Pharmacy, located at the corner of South Main and Marshall streets.

Police Chief Bob Ritchey said the lock on a back door had been kicked off, providing access to the pharmacy owned by Joe O'Neal and Winston Howard.

The break-in was discovered at 7:42 a.m. today when the shop was opened.

Richey said the drugs — described as hard narcotics — were taken from locked drawers in the prescription counter.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to enter the office of Dr. Robert L. Robbins Jr., which adjoins the pharmacy. A metal door at the east side of the building showed signs of attempted entry, according to Ritchey, who added that the burglary alarm system in the building malfuntioned and failed to go off.

Replies submitted to appeals court

A motion to ammend the Preliminary Writ of Prohibition issued by the Missouri Court of Appeals in Springfield on Monday was filed Wednesday by attorneys for Tony Heckemeyer of Sikeston, unsuccessful candidate for Circuit Court Judge of the 33rd Judicial Circuit.

In the preliminary writ of prohibition Williams H. Billings, chief judge of the Missouri Court of Appeals, Springfield District, ordered Judge Stanley Grimm of the 32nd judicial circuit to refrain from action on a petition filed by Heckemeyer in Scott County Circuit Court seeking a recount of ballots in the Aug. 3, primary election.

Judge Grimm was given until Sept. 6 to reply. He submitted his reply on Wednesday.

Sept. 16 was set as the final date for Heckemeyer to reply. Sept. 21 was set as a final date for reply by Marshall Craig, the primary winner, who had petitioned the court for the prohibition order. The hearing was set for Sept. 23 at 1 p.m.

In the motion to amend the order, attorneys for Heckemeyer asked that the Sept. 6 date be changed to Sept. 2 and that briefs from both parties be filed no later than Sept. 3.

When contacted today Heckemeyer said that if no action was taken today by the appeals court, his attorneys would appear in the Supreme Court on Tuesday.

HARD FACT OF DETERGENTS

Those nonphosphate detergents which were introduced in 1970 and which some localities have made mandatory are helping to stop the pollution of the nation's lakes and streams. Unfortunately, they are also causing more damage to fabrics and automatic washers then anybody anticipated. Such is the finding of the Consumer's Institute of General Electric.

For example, it makes fabrics, especially cotton, stiff and rough, It causes abrasion in the washer which can reduce the life of clothing by more than 15 per cent. It also impairs the dewrinkling performance of permanent-press finishes and destroys the effectiveness of flame retardants.

As for washers, limestone buildup in pumps, hoses, nozzles and filter devices can eventually put them out of service. In one hard- water area in the Midwest, washers were found to have as short a life as three or four years.

About the only effective thing a person can do about it, says the GE report, is to install a home water- softening system — also no small expense, though its initial cost may be outweighed by its long-term benefits.

Either that, or be consoled with the thought that the price being paid in shorter clothing and washer life is buying all of us a cleaner environment.

BAD NEWS, GOOD BUDDY

SUN SPOTS seem to get the blame for anything and everything, from cancer to crop failure.

Now comes Donald Lucas, assistant director of the Commerce Department office of telecommunications, with more bad news about these solar aberrations.

Beginning in 1978 and for a period of three to five years thereafter, he says, the sun spots are going to render useless all those citizen band radios which folks have been snapping up recently.

The reason for this, he says, is that the spots ionize or charge electrically what is known as the F-2 layer of the ionosphere. When that happens, he explains, the F-2 layer acts as a sort of electronic mirror, deflecting CB radio transmissions in a helter-skelter fashion back to Earth.

What this means is that a Good Buddy truckin' down to Memphis and trying to clear the road ahead for his 18-wheeler from interference by Smokey the Bear is likely to hear not only from Rubber Duckey up ahead but at the same time from somebody in Milwaukee, Denver or Oskaloosa. The result will be a garbling of the message to the point where it will make no sense.

There is nothing that can be done about this, according to Lucas. The sun spots come along about every 11 years, and 1978 is the year for them to show up again.

Oh, well, nothing good ever seems to last nowadays.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEWSBEAT MEMO

For several years now your columnist Victor Riesel has been crusading against welfare-Medicaid thievery. Riesel has charged, and steadily proven, that anywhere from one to five billion dollars have been ripped off annually through fraud, waste, ineligibility and rackets.

Now the U.S. Senate, in a 300-page report, corroborates all this. Its Subcommittee on Long-Term Care (of the aging), headed by Sen. Frank Moss, charged Monday that anywhere from $3.75 billion to $7.5 billion are stolen or wasted yearly.

Unions Pour It Out:

Will Labor's $100 million campaign make the '76 Presidential Race a Sure Thing?

WASHINGTON — Recently one of labor's most dedicated political activists inside the Democratic- union coalition got off what was easily the greatest understatement since Cleopatra raised an eyebrow at Julius Caesar. This activist, powerful Machinists' political action director Bill Holayter (one of Jimmy Carter's earliest advisers), said:

"This is the toughest, most costly election we have ever faced."

True. It's awesome but accurate. A team of cost accountants drew away from their desk computers the other day and concluded the unprecedentedly unified American labor movement will have spent over $100 million on the 1976 congressional and presidential campaigns before they're over.

Always, such simple arithmetic provokes complex, furious reaction inside labor. This is understandable. That $100 million is a lot of money for the militant proletariat. But it's a conservataive estimate. It may well go higher.

No charity, this. Nor any extraordinary enthusiasm for the man from Plains. To organized labor, the issue is as simple as the arithmetic.

At stake is what appears to be the possibility of another eight years of Republican rule. This would total 16 years – more than the Grand Old Party has had since it was invented.

During such a period, the nature of the Supreme Court, the federal judiciary, the cabinet departments, especially Labor, Transportation, Justice and State, could be permanently changed in personnel and philosophy. So would executive agencies such as the National Labor Relations Board, the ICC and FCC. The Federal Reserve Board would continue in conservative hands, though the unions now seek to get labor men on it.

Another eight years would repeal the Roosevelt administration.

To prevent this, the union strategists have been stockpiling money, manpower, political machinery and the ever round-the-clock humming computer printouts.

Before we get into the long count, it must be noted that the AFL-CIO isn't the only show in town though its elder statesmen, George Many, easily is still the most powerful and histrionic of all the dramatis personae, 82 years of age or no.

There are some 23 million dues payers. They range from newly politicalized cops to college professors and clergy including nuns, priests, rabbis and ministers.

Thus the point here is that "the labor movement" consists of not just the AFL-CIO, not just the sprawling C OPE machine whose hundred masterminds met all day Monday, but the auto workers, the teamsters, the miners, the 1.8 million-member National Education Assn. and hundreds of smaller independents, such as the Christian Labor Union of Minnesota.

Thus the arithmetic shows that Leonard Woodcock's independent United Automobile Workers, its locals, its Voluntary Community Action Program, and its Committee for Good Government will have spent several million dollars int he two years of the 1976 congressional and presidential election campaigns.

The Teamsters, with some 800 locals, who are expected to back Jimmy Carter, will spend more millions.

The Machinists Non-Partisan Political League -- still collecting, still spending for the Democratic candidates it wants to elect -- has collected over $125 million.

The NEA, not counting its vast network of state and local chapters, reports it will spend at least $850,000. The locals will quadruple this, and more, I was told by one of NEA's national leaders.

And there is the $1 million registration drive announced by the Democratic National Committee recently -- financed by the AFL-CIO and UAW.

Further it's estimated that such unions as Glenn Watts' gung ho Communications Workes of America -- one of the dynamos of the Labor Coalition Clearing House -- has a million dollars and more to spend through independent committees. The coalition itself has already spent over $1 million.

Trouble with those inside labor who growl at the estimate of a $100 million campaign is they don't do their cost accounting homework. They ignore the thousands of conventions and meetings devoted to political action. In Chicago, in October for example, big Ed J. Kiernan, head of the International Conference of Police Associations, will call to order the first purely political police congress. For the first time, speaking for some 200,000 policemen, cops will endorse national candidates. Grand ballrooms don't come cheap.

And there is New York's Hotel Americana October Liberal Party banquet to which Jimmy Carter will fly. There is the $500,000 annual payroll of the COPE staff itself.

Of course all this is just a sampling. There are over 100 national AFL-CIO unions with 50,000 locals. In some fashion most of them are in the campaign with phone banks, too. And what of the labor press, with circulation in the tens of millionis, heavily laden with Democratic election campaigning?

Newsprint, air fares, hotel rooms for conferences, such as the Tuesday AFL-CIO General Board meeting, come high.

Yes indeed, a little pencil work will prove Bill Holayter right. This is one of history's costliest political campaigns.

PACKED JAILS NOW SCHOOLS FOR FELONS

America's juvenile correction facilities are clogged with "status offenders" — kinds whose conduct would not be considered a crime if committed by an adult, such as skipping school, breaking curfew or running away from home.

This is the salient finding of a study of 1,837 youths in correctional programs sampled by the National Assessment of Juvenile Corrections (NAJC). More than a third of the youths were status offenders, yet many of them were confined side-by-side with youths who had committed arson, assault or armed robbery.

The NAJC project, begun in 1971 under a grant from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and conducted by researchers from the University of Michigan, is the first comprehensive collection of national data on juvenile correctional programs.

"The typical NAJC youth is likely to be male, nonwhite, about 16 years of age and lower class," said the report. "He is no angel—he readily admits to drinking, using drugs and skipping school, but neither is he a hardened criminal. He has probably committed a minor property crime (although if female, it was likely a status offense). Male or female, the typical youth in the study has had considerable prior contact with the juvenile justice system."

Along with broad inconsistencies between and within the states in the definition and handling of juvenile offenders, the study found striking comparions between "newcomers," who had entered a correctional program within the previous four months, and "veterans," who had been confined a year or more. Only 20 per cent of the newcomers, but 46 per cent of the veterans, said that since their arrival they had learned "many ways" to break the law.

The NAJC calls for the removal of status offenders from juvenile,institutions, along with major cutbacks in the numbers and sizes of closed institutions in almost every state.

"Institutions are appropriate only for those delinquents who display serious offense patterns and who appear to pose an unequivocal threat to the community," the report concludes.

"Jammming these facilities with minor offenders and problem children inevitably reduces their ability to handle the more serious offenders."

U.S. CATTLEMEN PENALIZED

The Federal Government insists on federal inspections of beef, and also of pork or other meat that is to be sold for human consumption--even in our two small lockers at Paris.

At the same time, it allows meat products, especially beef, to be shipped into the United States without inspection at the slaughter-house by U.S. government officials.

The result is that locally produced meat costs more to produce, slaughter and put on the food markets, and that foreign meats can do that at a lower price and therefore provide unfair competition for American farmers.

Imports should be barred, or the same yardsticks of inspection be applied to both.

HOW SOON THEY FORGET...

In 1964 Warren Hearnes defeated Hiliary Bush for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Missouri. Bush was the hand picked choice of the Missouri political establishment headquarters in Jefferson City. This establishment for 20 years had been able to pick and name a Governor eight years in advance of the election. It was just that cut and dried. The machine that was run by the establishment was considered unbeatable, but the people got tired of this type of politics and voted for a War veteran, a young statesman who had been in state government for his entire adult life. Hearnes soundly beat the establishment in 1964 and was himself unbeatable in 1968. His record as Governor was honorable and he was credited for many great accomplishments. Could it be that now the old establishment people are seeking revenge? Could people be blaming Hearnes for the crimes of a state treasurer Hearnes is the only man the Democrats have got that can prove he is clean. He's been accused and investigated and found to be innocent of any crime. We believe the party owes him the Senatorial nomination. We feel sure that his chances of defeating John Danforth in November are better than those of Jim Spainhower, or anyone else, the state committee can come up with. The Democratic Party in Missouri is in a terrible mess. They have been ever since Hearnes left office in 1972. How soon they forget....

Art Buchwald

THOUGHTS OF A CANDIDATE'S WIFE

(Art Buchwald was so disappointed he wasn't chosen as President Ford's running mate that he has decided to take a few weeks off. He left behind some of his all-time favorite columns.)

It is regrettable that when the wife of someone running for public office is interviewed she can't say what is really on her mind. In order to be a good candidate's wife, she must show a stiff upper lip and stick with the standard cliches about her husband, her home and her children.

Now, for the first time, thanks to a new extrasensory perception process, I can reveal what is really going on in the mind of the wife of the candidate. Her thoughts are in italics:

"Mrs. Goodfellow, what is the most important role a wife must play in her husband's political career?"

"She must give him moral support when he is discouraged. She must be his ears and eyes when he isn't around, and she must be able to make him relax at the end of a hard day's campaigning."

As well as keep him off the bottle and away from all the skirts who think he's God's gift to women.

"You have four children. Do you find they miss their father when he is out making speeches all the time?"

"I imagine they do. But Charlton's a wonderful father and he always makes time for the children, no matter how many political commitments he has."

Would you believe he hasn't seen them since the Fourth of July?

"Do you find the children understand that both of you have to be away from home so much?"

"Oh, yes, they're wonderful about it and they're as interested in the race as we are."

They've only run away from home twice–the second time they asked to be placed in an orphanage.

"Do you get upset at the terrible things that are said about your husband during tthe campaign?"

"Oh, no. One must understand that politics is a rough business and I'm used to it."

But if I ever see the wife of the candidate Charlton is running against, I'll scratch her eyes out.

"Mrs. Goodfellow, do you find it tiring to be constantly in the limelight and always on your best behavior?"

"I love it. When we first got married, Charlton indicated he wanted to go into politics, and I knew that although it would place me in the spotlight our lives would be exciting, thrilling and rewarding. I wouldn't change my life for anything."

Except to be married to a plumber or somebody else with a respectable job.

"How do you manage to keep so beautifully dressed all the time?"

"I make do on Charlton's salary. You just have to know where the bargains are."

If it weren't for the trust fund Daddy left me, I'd be in rags right now.

"Mrs. Goodfellow, do you ever get any time alone with your husband?"

"Oh, yes. We steal many hours together and talk about the children and the funny things that have happened during the campaign and the intimate day-to-day happenings of our lives."

The only other people present are his political campaign manager, his press man, his finance chairman, and 43 other volunteer workers.

"Mrs. Goodfellow, if your husband wins his race for office, will you change your living habits in any way?"

"Oh, no. I'm going to be the same person I was before."

I'll just take more tranquilizers instead.

PLATFORM COMPARISONS

By PHYLLIS SCHLAFLY
Copley News Service

Contrary to the popular belief that national party platforms tend to blur rather than clarify the differences between the two major political parties, and are so vague that they don't mean much anyway, the 1976 party platforms offer the voters a clear-cut choice on many major issues.

The Democratic platform favors hiring the unemployed to work for the federal government. That means passing the Humphrey-Hawkins bill. The Republican platform favors the creation of new jobs by the "private sector" instead of carrying them on the backs of the American taxpayers.

The Democratic platform favors a "comprehensive national health insurance system with universal and mandatory coverage," financed and administered by the federal government (e.g., the Kennedy-Corman bill). The Republican platform "opposes compulsory national health insurance."

The Democratic platform proposes a welfare system of "income maintenance," funded by the federal government. This is polite language for a guaranteed annual income plan, which the Republican platform specifically opposes. The Democratic platform favors federalizing welfare; the Republicans are opposed.

The Democratic platform supports splitting up the major oil companies. The Republican platform "vigorously" opposes this.

The Democratic platform supports "mandatory transportation of students beyond their neighborhoods for the purpose of desegregation" as "a judicial tool of last resort." The Republican platform flatly opposes "forced busing."

The Democratic platform supports detente, more agrteements with the Soviets, a $5 billion to $7 billion reduction in defense spending, and a delay of the B-1 bomber. The Republican platform criticizes detente and endorses a "superior national defense," including the B-1 bomber.

The Democratic platform encourages recognition of Red China. The Republican platform promises that we will keep our commitments "such as the mutual defense treaty with the Republic of Chian."

The Democratic platform pledges support for a new Panama Canal treaty.

The only treaty now under consideration is the one negotiated by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker which would abandon U.S. sovereignty over the canal. The Republican platform says that "negotiators should in no way cede, dilute, forfeit, negotiate or transfer any rights, power, authority, jurisdiction, territory or property that are necessary for the protection and security of the United States." The difference between the two platforms may well be the difference between whether we continue to own the U.S. Canal or not.

The Democratic platform calls for "a coordinated federal and state effort" to control the manufacture, distribution and possession of handguns. The Republican platform flatly opposes "federal registration of firearms."

The Democratic platform opposes a Human Life Amendment to prohibit abortions, while the Republican platform favors passage of "a constitutional amendment to restore protection of the right to life for unborn children."

Ronald Reagan was correct in saying that the Republican platform is "a banner of bold, unmistakable colors with no pale, pastel shades." The big question is: will Gerald Ford run on the Republican platform, or will he obey Kissinger who defiantly says it "won't have any effect on the conduct" of his policies?

Turkish Opium Traffic Flourishes

by Jack Anderson
with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — On a night in June, a grimy little freighter steamed toward the Egyptian coast and anchored at a lonely spot beyond Alexandria. Suddenly, out of the blackness on the shore, a blue light blinked.

Responding to the signal, two huddled figures slipped over the ship's side into a rowboat. Then four heavy nylon bags were lowered carefully into the boat. The two men rode silently toward the eerie, blue light.

As they approached the crashing surf, a huge wave gave the boat a mighty heave. "Not far from shore," relates an intelligence report, "the rowboat was swamped by a high wave and sank."

One crewman was drowned; the other struggled, gasping, to the beach. He was picked up later by Egyptian authorities as he stumbled along the shore. His astonishing story cast doubt on a United Nations report that was issued a month afterward. It could also mean sober news for the United States.

A UN mission reported in July that Turkey's effort to contain and control its opium harvest "definitely works." The Turks held the opium cultivation to 43,400 acres. The crop was supposed to be used strictly for medical purposes, producing codeine for mild medicines and morphine as a pain killer.

But the seaman's story, told to Egypt's top narcotics official, Brig. Gen. Mamdouh Zaki, raises questions about the effectiveness of the Turkish controls. A U.S. narcotics agent was invited to participate in the interrogation.

The seaman told how the Turkish freighter had made an unscheduled stop at the Turkish port of Antalya. According to a narcotics intelligence report, "the captain ordered the (crewmen) to proceed in a rowboat to a point on the shore and to pick up (some) ... meat."

But instead of beef, the crewmen picked up four nylon bags packed with high grade opium. There was enough opium in the four sacks to produce more than $1 million worth of heroin. Once the contraband was smuggled aboard, the sooty little freighter headed for the rendezvous off the Egyptian coast.

The Egyptian authorities recovered 270 pounds of opium, which was washed ashore from the capsized rowboat. This seizure, according to the intelligence report, "is the largest in the Alexandria area in the past five years." More important, it is evidence that Turkish opium, in large quantities, is finding its way into the illegal world market.

America's own Drug Enforcement Administration, in an unpublished assessment, has agreed with the United Nations that Turkish controls worked reasonably well this past year. But the DEA questioned whether Turkey would be able to police the 117,200 acres, almost triple the last crop, which has been authorized for 1976.

Unfortunately, the question cannot be answered until April, 1977. By that time, the heroin could be on its way to the streets of America. Almost certainly, this would lead to an epidemic of new addicts.

Footnote: Under the prodding of Rep. Lester Wolff, D.-N.Y., and others, the United States brought pressure on Turkey a decade ago to ban opium growing. Turkish farmers raised such a howl that a controlled crop has been authorized. Now Wolff has taken over the chairmanship of the new House Select Narcotics Committee. His first order of business will be to study the increased Turkish opium harvest.

FISCAL CHAOS: Federal, state and local budgets are almost out of control. Government spending is expected soon to hit a mind-boggling $1 trillion a year. The explosion of greenbacks is becoming as difficult to assort as autumn leaves in a windstorm.

The Treasury Department has begun an heroic effort, nevertheless, to figure out exactly how much America owns and owes. It will be the first complete federal financial statement in history, an ant bed of figures that is supposed to be ready for release early in 1978.

To calculate America's assets and liabilities, the Treasury will rely heavily upon the financial information provided by the various government agencies. But government auditors are worried that the information may be faulty.

Under federal law, each agency must submit regular financial reports to the Treasury and the agency head must make certain that the reports are accurate. Yet the General Accounting Office has warned that only "a small number" of these reports are audited.

A GAO report, intended for official eyes only, declares that the agencies review their accounting systems only sporadically and fail to emphasize audits of the financial reports.

The confidential report cites "major deficiencies in accounting procedures" and stresses the need for "thorough" and "accurate" audits.

KUWAITI QUIZ: A Kuwaiti impressario named Sharif Alami soon will arrive in this country to study American quiz shows. The State Department has lined up a schedule of shows for him to observe.

Perhaps there may soon be Kuwaiti versions of "Let's Make a Deal," "The $20,000 Pyramid" and the "New Treasure Hunt." For prizes, the Kuwaitis might offer oil wells.

HARD FACT OF DETERGENTS

Those nonphosphate detergents which were introduced in 1970 and which some localities have made mandatory are helping to stop the pollution of the nation's lakes and streams. Unfortunately, they are also causing more damage to fabrics and automatic washers then anybody anticipated. Such is the finding of the Consumer's Institute of General Electric.

For example, it makes fabrics, especially cotton, stiff and rough, It causes abrasion in the washer which can reduce the life of clothing by more than 15 per cent. It also impairs the dewrinkling performance of permanent-press finishes and destroys the effectiveness of flame retardants.

As for washers, limestone buildup in pumps, hoses, nozzles and filter devices can eventually put them out of service. In one hard- water area in the Midwest, washers were found to have as short a life as three or four years.

About the only effective thing a person can do about it, says the GE report, is to install a home water- softening system — also no small expense, though its initial cost may be outweighed by its long-term benefits.

Either that, or be consoled with the thought that the price being paid in shorter clothing and washer life is buying all of us a cleaner environment.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

NEWSBEAT MEMO

For several years now your columnist Victor Riesel has been crusading against welfare-Medicaid thievery. Riesel has charged, and steadily proven, that anywhere from one to five billion dollars have been ripped off annually through fraud, waste, ineligibility and rackets.

Now the U.S. Senate, in a 300-page report, corroborates all this. Its Subcommittee on Long-Term Care (of the aging), headed by Sen. Frank Moss, charged Monday that anywhere from $3.75 billion to $7.5 billion are stolen or wasted yearly.

Unions Pour It Out:

Will Labor's $100 million campaign make the '76 Presidential Race a Sure Thing?

WASHINGTON — Recently one of labor's most dedicated political activists inside the Democratic- union coalition got off what was easily the greatest understatement since Cleopatra raised an eyebrow at Julius Caesar. This activist, powerful Machinists' political action director Bill Holayter (one of Jimmy Carter's earliest advisers), said:

"This is the toughest, most costly election we have ever faced."

Male or female, the typical youth in the study has had considerable prior contact with the juvenile justice system."

Along with broad inconsistencies between and within the states in the definition and handling of juvenile offenders, the study found striking comparions between "newcomers," who had entered a correctional program within the previous four months, and "veterans," who had been confined a year or more. Only 20 per cent of the newcomers, but 46 per cent of the veterans, said that since their arrival they had learned "many ways" to break the law.

The NAJC calls for the removal of status offenders from juvenile,institutions, along with major cutbacks in the numbers and sizes of closed institutions in almost every state.

"Institutions are appropriate only for those delinquents who display serious offense patterns and who appear to pose an unequivocal threat to the community," the report concludes.

"Jammming these facilities with minor offenders and problem children inevitably reduces their ability to handle the more serious offenders."

U.S. CATTLEMEN PENALIZED

The Federal Government insists on federal inspections of beef, and also of pork or other meat that is to be sold for human consumption--even in our two small lockers at Paris.

At the same time, it allows meat products, especially beef, to be shipped into the United States without inspection at the slaughter-house by U.S. government officials.

The result is that locally produced meat costs more to produce, slaughter and put on the food markets, and that foreign meats can do that at a lower price and therefore provide unfair competition for American farmers.

Imports should be barred, or the same yardsticks of inspection be applied to both.

HOW SOON THEY FORGET...

In 1964 Warren Hearnes defeated Hiliary Bush for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Missouri. Bush was the hand picked choice of the Missouri political establishment headquarters in Jefferson City. This establishment for 20 years had been able to pick and name a Governor eight years in advance of the election. It was just that cut and dried. The machine that was run by the establishment was considered unbeatable, but the people got tired of this type of politics and voted for a War veteran, a young statesman who had been in state government for his entire adult life. Hearnes soundly beat the establishment in 1964 and was himself unbeatable in 1968. His record as Governor was honorable and he was credited for many great accomplishments. Could it be that now the old establishment people are seeking revenge? Could people be blaming Hearnes for the crimes of a state treasurer Hearnes is the only man the Democrats have got that can prove he is clean. He's been accused and investigated and found to be innocent of any crime. We believe the party owes him the Senatorial nomination. We feel sure that his chances of defeating John Danforth in November are better than those of Jim Spainhower, or anyone else, the state committee can come up with. The Democratic Party in Missouri is in a terrible mess. They have been ever since Hearnes left office in 1972. How soon they forget....

BAD NEWS, GOOD BUDDY

SUN SPOTS seem to get the blame for anything and everything, from cancer to crop failure.

Now comes Donald Lucas, assistant director of the Commerce Department office of telecommunications, with more bad news about these solar aberrations.

Beginning in 1978 and for a period of three to five years thereafter, he says, the sun spots are going to render useless all those citizen band radios which folks have been snapping up recently.

The reason for this, he says, is that the spots ionize or charge electrically what is known as the F-2 layer of the ionosphere. When that happens, he explains, the F-2 layer acts as a sort of electronic mirror, deflecting CB radio transmissions in a helter-skelter fashion back to Earth.

What this means is that a Good Buddy truckin' down to Memphis and trying to clear the road ahead for his 18-wheeler from interference by Smokey the Bear is likely to hear not only from Rubber Duckey up ahead but at the same time from somebody in Milwaukee, Denver or Oskaloosa. The result will be a garbling of the message to the point where it will make no sense.

There is nothing that can be done about this, according to Lucas. The sun spots come along about every 11 years, and 1978 is the year for them to show up again.

Oh, well, nothing good ever seems to last nowadays.

Art Buchwald

THOUGHTS OF A CANDIDATE'S WIFE

(Art Buchwald was so disappointed he wasn't chosen as President Ford's running mate that he has decided to take a few weeks off. He left behind some of his all-time favorite columns.)

It is regrettable that when the wife of someone running for public office is interviewed she can't say what is really on her mind. In order to be a good candidate's wife, she must show a stiff upper lip and stick with the standard cliches about her husband, her home and her children.

Now, for the first time, thanks to a new extrasensory perception process, I can reveal what is really going on in the mind of the wife of the candidate. Her thoughts are in italics:

"Mrs. Goodfellow, what is the most important role a wife must play in her husband's political career?"

"She must give him moral support when he is discouraged. She must be his ears and eyes when he isn't around, and she must be able to make him relax at the end of a hard day's campaigning."

As well as keep him off the bottle and away from all the skirts who think he's God's gift to women.

"You have four children. Do you find they miss their father when he is out making speeches all the time?"

"I imagine they do. But Charlton's a wonderful father and he always makes time for the children, no matter how many political commitments he has."

Would you believe he hasn't seen them since the Fourth of July?

"Do you find the children understand that both of you have to be away from home so much?"

"Oh, yes, they're wonderful about it and they're as interested in the race as we are."

They've only run away from home twice–the second time they asked to be placed in an orphanage.

"Do you get upset at the terrible things that are said about your husband during tthe campaign?"

"Oh, no. One must understand that politics is a rough business and I'm used to it."

But if I ever see the wife of the candidate Charlton is running against, I'll scratch her eyes out.

"Mrs. Goodfellow, do you find it tiring to be constantly in the limelight and always on your best behavior?"

"I love it. When we first got married, Charlton indicated he wanted to go into politics, and I knew that although it would place me in the spotlight our lives would be exciting, thrilling and rewarding. I wouldn't change my life for anything."

Except to be married to a plumber or somebody else with a respectable job.

"How do you manage to keep so beautifully dressed all the time?"

"I make do on Charlton's salary. You just have to know where the bargains are."

If it weren't for the trust fund Daddy left me, I'd be in rags right now.

"Mrs. Goodfellow, do you ever get any time alone with your husband?"

"Oh, yes. We steal many hours together and talk about the children and the funny things that have happened during the campaign and the intimate day-to-day happenings of our lives."

The only other people present are his political campaign manager, his press man, his finance chairman, and 43 other volunteer workers.

"Mrs. Goodfellow, if your husband wins his race for office, will you change your living habits in any way?"

"Oh, no. I'm going to be the same person I was before."

I'll just take more tranquilizers instead.

PLATFORM COMPARISONS

By PHYLLIS SCHLAFLY
Copley News Service

Contrary to the popular belief that national party platforms tend to blur rather than clarify the differences between the two major political parties, and are so vague that they don't mean much anyway, the 1976 party platforms offer the voters a clear-cut choice on many major issues.

The Democratic platform favors hiring the unemployed to work for the federal government. That means passing the Humphrey-Hawkins bill. The Republican platform favors the creation of new jobs by the "private sector" instead of carrying them on the backs of the American taxpayers.

The Democratic platform favors a "comprehensive national health insurance system with universal and mandatory coverage," financed and administered by the federal government (e.g., the Kennedy-Corman bill). The Republican platform "opposes compulsory national health insurance."

The Democratic platform proposes a welfare system of "income maintenance," funded by the federal government. This is polite language for a guaranteed annual income plan, which the Republican platform specifically opposes. The Democratic platform favors federalizing welfare; the Republicans are opposed.

The Democratic platform supports splitting up the major oil companies. The Republican platform "vigorously" opposes this.

The Democratic platform supports "mandatory transportation of students beyond their neighborhoods for the purpose of desegregation" as "a judicial tool of last resort." The Republican platform flatly opposes "forced busing."

The Democratic platform supports detente, more agreements with the Soviets, a $5 billion to $7 billion reduction in defense spending, and a delay of the B-1 bomber. The Republican platform criticizes detente and endorses a "superior national defense," including the B-1 bomber.

The Democratic platform encourages recognition of Red China. The Republican platform promises that we will keep our commitments "such as the mutual defense treaty with the Republic of Chian."

The Democratic platform pledges support for a new Panama Canal treaty.

The only treaty now under consideration is the one negotiated by Secretary of State Henry Kissinger and U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker which would abandon U.S. sovereignty over the canal. The Republican platform says that "negotiators should in no way cede, dilute, forfeit, negotiate or transfer any rights, power, authority, jurisdiction, territory or property that are necessary for the protection and security of the United States." The difference between the two platforms may well be the difference between whether we continue to own the U.S. Canal or not.

The Democratic platform calls for "a coordinated federal and state effort" to control the manufacture, distribution and possession of handguns. The Republican platform flatly opposes "federal registration of firearms."

The Democratic platform opposes a Human Life Amendment to prohibit abortions, while the Republican platform favors passage of "a constitutional amendment to restore protection of the right to life for unborn children."

Ronald Reagan was correct in saying that the Republican platform is "a banner of bold, unmistakable colors with no pale, pastel shades." The big question is: will Gerald Ford run on the Republican platform, or will he obey Kissinger who defiantly says it "won't have any effect on the conduct" of his policies?

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Turkish Opium Traffic Flourishes

by Jack Anderson
with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — On a night in June, a grimy little freighter steamed toward the Egyptian coast and anchored at a lonely spot beyond Alexandria. Suddenly, out of the blackness on the shore, a blue light blinked.

Responding to the signal, two huddled figures slipped over the ship's side into a rowboat. Then four heavy nylon bags were lowered carefully into the boat. The two men rode silently toward the eerie, blue light.

As they approached the crashing surf, a huge wave gave the boat a mighty heave. "Not far from shore," relates an intelligence report, "the rowboat was swamped by a high wave and sank."

One crewman was drowned; the other struggled, gasping, to the beach. He was picked up later by Egyptian authorities as he stumbled along the shore. His astonishing story cast doubt on a United Nations report that was issued a month afterward. It could also mean sober news for the United States.

A UN mission reported in July that Turkey's effort to contain and control its opium harvest "definitely works." The Turks held the opium cultivation to 43,400 acres. The crop was supposed to be used strictly for medical purposes, producing codeine for mild medicines and morphine as a pain killer.

But the seaman's story, told to Egypt's top narcotics official, Brig. Gen. Mamdouh Zaki, raises questions about the effectiveness of the Turkish controls. A U.S. narcotics agent was invited to participate in the interrogation.

The seaman told how the Turkish freighter had made an unscheduled stop at the Turkish port of Antalya. According to a narcotics intelligence report, "the captain ordered the (crewmen) to proceed in a rowboat to a point on the shore and to pick up (some) ... meat."

But instead of beef, the crewmen picked up four nylon bags packed with high grade opium. There was enough opium in the four sacks to produce more than $1 million worth of heroin. Once the contraband was smuggled aboard, the sooty little freighter headed for the rendezvous off the Egyptian coast.

The Egyptian authorities recovered 270 pounds of opium, which was washed ashore from the capsized rowboat. This seizure, according to the intelligence report, "is the largest in the Alexandria area in the past five years." More important, it is evidence that Turkish opium, in large quantities, is finding its way into the illegal world market.

America's own Drug Enforcement Administration, in an unpublished assessment, has agreed with the United Nations that Turkish controls worked reasonably well this past year. But the DEA questioned whether Turkey would be able to police the 117,200 acres, almost triple the last crop, which has been authorized for 1976.

Unfortunately, the question cannot be answered until April, 1977. By that time, the heroin could be on its way to the streets of America. Almost certainly, this would lead to an epidemic of new addicts.

Footnote: Under the prodding of Rep. Lester Wolff, D.-N.Y., and others, the United States brought pressure on Turkey a decade ago to ban opium growing. Turkish farmers raised such a howl that a controlled crop has been authorized. Now Wolff has taken over the chairmanship of the new House Select Narcotics Committee. His first order of business will be to study the increased Turkish opium harvest.

FISCAL CHAOS: Federal, state and local budgets are almost out of control. Government spending is expected soon to hit a mind-boggling $1 trillion a year. The explosion of greenbacks is becoming as difficult to assort as autumn leaves in a windstorm.

The Treasury Department has begun an heroic effort, nevertheless, to figure out exactly how much America owns and owes. It will be the first complete federal financial statement in history, an ant bed of figures that is supposed to be ready for release early in 1978.

To calculate America's assets and liabilities, the Treasury will rely heavily upon the financial information provided by the various government agencies. But government auditors are worried that the information may be faulty.

Under federal law, each agency must submit regular financial reports to the Treasury and the agency head must make certain that the reports are accurate. Yet the General Accounting Office has warned that only "a small number" of these reports are audited.

A GAO report, intended for official eyes only, declares that the agencies review their accounting systems only sporadically and fail to emphasize audits of the financial reports.

The confidential report cites "major deficiencies in accounting procedures" and stresses the need for "thorough" and "accurate" audits.

KUWAITI QUIZ: A Kuwaiti impressario named Sharif Alami soon will arrive in this country to study American quiz shows. The State Department has lined up a schedule of shows for him to observe.

Perhaps there may soon be Kuwaiti versions of "Let's Make a Deal," "The $20,000 Pyramid" and the "New Treasure Hunt." For prizes, the Kuwaitis might offer oil wells.

Usage of utility funds is protested

CARTERVILLE, Ill. (AP) — The use of a utility's money to pay for advertising in support of a proposed rate increase has come under fire from a citizens group opposed to the increase.

Larry Flesner of Carterville, spokesman for Southern Counties Action Movement (SCAM), said Central Illinois Public Service Co. (CIPS) spent more than $333,000 on advertising last year, "This is an extraordinary amount of money for consumers to pay out that brings them no direct benefit."

The organization told Marvin Lieberman, chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission, that SCAM members "should not have to pay for expenditures that are not necessary to efficient operation of the company," Flesner said. The group met with Lieberman on Tuesday.

Sam Poe, a spokesman for the utility, said, "While I disagree with the manner in which some of these allegations have been made, the proper forum for determining their relevancy and applicability to the CIPS need for a rate increase is before the ICC and not the press."

CIPS is seeking a rate increase of 21 per cent from electricity customers and 11 per cent from natural gas customers which, if approved by the ICC, would generate $42 million in electricity revenue and $11 million in gas money annually, Poe said.

The ICC allows "advertising which we believe is legitimate communication to be charged to the rate- payer," said Lieberman. "But we've stripped out the image- building. We took away $1 million in a (telephone rate) case and $500,000 in a Commonwealth Edison case."

SCAM demanded that the ICC make public the results of a commission - ordered audit of CIPS.

"As customers of this publicly- regulated utility, we believe that we have a right to such information," said Flesner.

But the demand was not necessary, said Liberman. He said the audit "was never intended to be private." Poe said the audit will be made public when it's finished.

CIPS, based in Springfield, serves 140,000 gas customers and 290,000 electricity customers in a total of 794 Illinois communities.

Old fashion is planned barbecue

CHARLESTON — Area residents will be treated to the taste of old-fashioned barbecue Sunday when Knights of Columbus Council No. 3282 sponsors its 22nd annual Labor Day Barbecue.

Chairman for this year's event is Grand Knight Willie Hart.

The meat is to be put on the open pits Saturday evening and, after slow cooking all night with hickory smoke, go on sale early Sunday morning.

Included will be pork, ribs and chicken, which will be available by the pound or by the sandwich at the KC Hall on Sixth Street.

The event is one of two barbecues which are the organization's main money-making projects each year to raise fund for various community benefit programs.

Ballet Pupils Shouldn't Go On Toe Too Soon

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — "A parent who insists on having her child 'on toe' before age 10 can do permanent damage to the child's feet," says DeeDee Arnone, Marin County ballet and jazz dance teacher.

"I showed X-rays of a child's foot to a mother who insisted her 8-year-old learn to dance on toe. I explained that the joints could be damaged by the pressure, ending her child's dancing hopes permanently."

She said she also warned the mother of many stresses in the graceful art of ballet.

Nevertheless, the mother decided to enroll the child in another school.

"We call them 'stage mothers,'" said Mrs. Arnone, herself mother of two.

Mrs. Arnone's approach to the 5 and 8-year-olds in her classes is to smile a lot and restrict the lesson to pre-ballet — simple positions, correct posture and turns with no dancing "on toe."

Usage of utility funds is protested

CARTERVILLE, Ill. (AP) — The use of a utility's money to pay for advertising in support of a proposed rate increase has come under fire from a citizens group opposed to the increase.

Larry Flesner of Carterville, spokesman for Southern Counties Action Movement (SCAM), said Central Illinois Public Service Co. (CIPS) spent more than $333,000 on advertising last year, "This is an extraordinary amount of money for consumers to pay out that brings them no direct benefit."

The organization told Marvin Lieberman, chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission, that SCAM members "should not have to pay for expenditures that are not necessary to efficient operation of the company," Flesner said. The group met with Lieberman on Tuesday.

Sam Poe, a spokesman for the utility, said, "While I disagree with the manner in which some of these allegations have been made, the proper forum for determining their relevancy and applicability to the CIPS need for a rate increase is before the ICC and not the press."

CIPS is seeking a rate increase of 21 per cent from electricity customers and 11 per cent from natural gas customers which, if approved by the ICC, would generate $42 million in electricity revenue and $11 million in gas money annually, Poe said.

The ICC allows "advertising which we believe is legitimate communication to be charged to the rate- payer," said Lieberman. "But we've stripped out the image- building. We took away $1 million in a (telephone rate) case and $500,000 in a Commonwealth Edison case."

SCAM demanded that the ICC make public the results of a commission - ordered audit of CIPS.

"As customers of this publicly- regulated utility, we believe that we have a right to such information," said Flesner.

But the demand was not necessary, said Liberman. He said the audit "was never intended to be private." Poe said the audit will be made public when it's finished.

CIPS, based in Springfield, serves 140,000 gas customers and 290,000 electricity customers in a total of 794 Illinois communities.

Old fashion is planned barbecue

CHARLESTON — Area residents will be treated to the taste of old-fashioned barbecue Sunday when Knights of Columbus Council No. 3282 sponsors its 22nd annual Labor Day Barbecue.

Chairman for this year's event is Grand Knight Willie Hart.

The meat is to be put on the open pits Saturday evening and, after slow cooking all night with hickory smoke, go on sale early Sunday morning.

Included will be pork, ribs and chicken, which will be available by the pound or by the sandwich at the KC Hall on Sixth Street.

The event is one of two barbecues which are the organization's main money-making projects each year to raise fund for various community benefit programs.

Ballet Pupils Shouldn't Go On Toe Too Soon

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — "A parent who insists on having her child 'on toe' before age 10 can do permanent damage to the child's feet," says DeeDee Arnone, Marin County ballet and jazz dance teacher.

"I showed X-rays of a child's foot to a mother who insisted her 8-year-old learn to dance on toe. I explained that the joints could be damaged by the pressure, ending her child's dancing hopes permanently."

She said she also warned the mother of many stresses in the graceful art of ballet.

Nevertheless, the mother decided to enroll the child in another school.

"We call them 'stage mothers,'" said Mrs. Arnone, herself mother of two.

Mrs. Arnone's approach to the 5 and 8-year-olds in her classes is to smile a lot and restrict the lesson to pre-ballet — simple positions, correct posture and turns with no dancing "on toe."

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with some fast food restaurants. Several times my children and I have had to leave such places since they were constantly sweeping the floor while we were eating. Up from the floor comes hair, dust, dirt, etc. I ask them not to sweep while we are eating and often a young employee apologizes and says he is sorry but was told to do it. These employers are most inconsiderate. Please publish this as it is a complaint from many mothers. — BARBARA K.

DEAR POLLY — The mail in our outside box would often get wet, so I made a false bottom to the box out of one-fourth inch mesh wire cut to the size of the box, and with enough extra to bend down on the sides to make "legs" for it to set on. — H.E.C.

Walkthon meeting set

A planning meeting is planned for Tuesday for the third annual Scott Mississippi - New Madrid Counties United Cerebral Palsy Walkathon.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Sikeston Regional Center for the Developmentally Disabled at 1 Plaza Drive.

The Walkathon is scheduled for Oct. 16 giving citizens an opportunity to walk a 5 mile route in support of United Cerebral Palsy's efforts to combat the disease. Non-participants may support the event by sponsoring a walker.

Walkers earn money for United Cerebral Palsy by soliciting sponsors who will pledge to contribute a set amount per mile walked.

All proeeds from the Walkathon will go to the United Cerebral Palsy Center in Sikeston which provides services in Scott, Mississippi and New Madrid counties.

Anyone interested in the planning and organization of the Walkathon should attend.

Ann Landers

'Whipping can't be beat'

Dear Ann Landers: I usually agree with your common-sense answers but find your mind closed in regard to husbands who ask their wives to beat them periodically. (After the beatings they are docile and loving.)

You say these people are sick. You are wrong. My husband and I have followed this pattern for years and I am thankful we feel free to express our innermost desires.

We take turns whipping each other, but always with a trusting and mutually rewarding understanding. There is no hostility or brutality. It's just another way to have fun.

We believe it's normal to do whatever makes us feel happy and loving. Your experts will tell you the centers of pain and pleasure are not far apart. I hope you will print my letter in the spirit of "live and let live." -- K. J. In Delaware

Dear K.J.: Here's your letter and my best wishes. Have a ball. It's nobody's business if you and your husband want to whip each other with (or without) a "trusting and mutually rewarding understanding." You can tie each other up, use chains, bedsheets, clotheslines -- whatever. Be my guest.

True, the centers of pain and pleasure ARE close together, but they are far enough apart so that healthy lovemaking is distinguishable from a sado-masochistic turn-on.

How fortunate that you two fun-loving kids found each other. It would have been disastrous had either of you married someone normal.

Dear Ann Landers: I need help and can't trust anyone but you. I'm a widow, 58 years old. I met this man who seemed very decent and treated me like a lady. He asked me to marry him on our third date. I was lonely and M. Z brought a certain excitement into my life that had been missing for a long time. I said yes.

Within the week I learned the following: I would be Mr. Z's sixth wife. (All previous marriages had ended in divorce.) His mother is 84 years old and lives with him. His house has been sold and they must move within 90 days. He expects to move in with me -- which, of course, means his mother would move in also. (She's a nice woman, but practically bedridden.)

I have a modest inheritance, a fine job and am in good health. Mr. Z retired last year (at age 65) and has very little money beyond his small pension and Social Security. He says he will not take any kind of a job, even part-time, because he has "worked enough already." I'm between the devil and the deep blue sea. Help me! -- F.G.

Dear F.G.: Take the sea, honey. You don't need a five-time loser who won't work -- with a semi-bedridden mother, yet.

If you're lonely, enjoy his company (as long as it lasts). But don't marry him.

Dear Ann: Here I sit at my desk -- with that same ol' bunch of knots in my stomach. Why? My two pre-school kids have been dropped off at the babysitter's and my house is a mess.

I've worked for 14 straight years with two months off each time to deliver and report back to work.

Quit? I can't unless we give up the art of eating. We'd have to forego necessities, not luxuries. My husband would have to work two jobs. I'd always be home and he'd NEVER be home. Settle for a part-time job? None to be had in this field.

I feel trapped. What's the answer? -- Grass Looks Greener

Dear Grass: Maybe it's a part-time job in another field. Start looking, doll. "Trapped" people get ulcers, migraines, backaches and their kids are often victims of the anxiety and frustration.

"Sexual freedom" presents a difficult decision for teenagers and their parents. Ann Landers offers down-to-earth advice in her new booklet, "High School Sex And How To Deal With It -- A Guide For Teens And Their Parents." For each booklet, send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Western nations measured time until 1582 A.D. by the Julian calendar, authorized by Julius Caesar in 46 B.C. and based on a year 365.25 days long.

Polly's Pointers

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with some fast food restaurants. Several times my children and I have had to leave such places since they were constantly sweeping the floor while we were eating. Up from the floor comes hair, dust, dirt, etc. I ask them not to sweep while we are eating and often a young employee apologizes and says he is sorry but was told to do it. These employers are most inconsiderate. Please publish this as it is a complaint from many mothers. — BARBARA K.

DEAR POLLY — The mail in our outside box would often get wet, so I made a false bottom to the box out of one-fourth inch mesh wire cut to the size of the box, and with enough extra to bend down on the sides to make "legs" for it to set on. — H.E.C.

Walkthon meeting set

A planning meeting is planned for Tuesday for the third annual Scott Mississippi - New Madrid Counties United Cerebral Palsy Walkathon.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Sikeston Regional Center for the Developmentally Disabled at 1 Plaza Drive.

The Walkathon is scheduled for Oct. 16 giving citizens an opportunity to walk a 5 mile route in support of United Cerebral Palsy's efforts to combat the disease. Non-participants may support the event by sponsoring a walker.

Walkers earn money for United Cerebral Palsy by soliciting sponsors who will pledge to contribute a set amount per mile walked.

All proeeds from the Walkathon will go to the United Cerebral Palsy Center in Sikeston which provides services in Scott, Mississippi and New Madrid counties.

Anyone interested in the planning and organization of the Walkathon should attend.

Ann Landers

'Whipping can't be beat'

Dear Ann Landers: I usually agree with your common-sense answers but find your mind closed in regard to husbands who ask their wives to beat them periodically. (After the beatings they are docile and loving.)

You say these people are sick. You are wrong. My husband and I have followed this pattern for years and I am thankful we feel free to express our innermost desires.

We take turns whipping each other, but always with a trusting and mutually rewarding understanding. There is no hostility or brutality. It's just another way to have fun.

We believe it's normal to do whatever makes us feel happy and loving. Your experts will tell you the centers of pain and pleasure are not far apart. I hope you will print my letter in the spirit of "live and let live." — K. J. In Delaware

Dear K.J.: Here's your letter and my best wishes. Have a ball. It's nobody's business if you and your husband want to whip each other with (or without) a "trusting and mutually rewarding understanding." You can tie each other up, use chains, bedsheets, clotheslines — whatever. Be my guest.

True, the centers of pain and pleasure ARE close together, but they are far enough apart so that healthy lovemaking is distinguishable from a sado-masochistic turn-on.

How fortunate that you two fun-loving kids found each other. It would have been disastrous had either of you married someone normal.

Dear Ann Landers: I need help and can't trust anyone but you. I'm a widow, 58 years old. I met this man who seemed very decent and treated me like a lady. He asked me to marry him on our third date. I was lonely and M. Z brought a certain excitement into my life that had been missing for a long time. I said yes.

Within the week I learned the following: I would be Mr. Z's sixth wife. (All previous marriages had ended in divorce.) His mother is 84 years old and lives with him. His house has been sold and they must move within 90 days. He expects to move in with me — which, of course, means his mother would move in also. (She's a nice woman, but practically bedridden.)

I have a modest inheritance, a fine job and am in good health. Mr. Z retired last year (at age 65) and has very little money beyond his small pension and Social Security. He says he will not take any kind of a job, even part-time, because he has "worked enough already." I'm between the devil and the deep blue sea. Help me! — F.G.

Dear F.G.: Take the sea, honey. You don't need a five-time loser who won't work — with a semi-bedridden mother, yet.

If you're lonely, enjoy his company (as long as it lasts). But don't marry him.

Dear Ann: Here I sit at my desk — with that same ol' bunch of knots in my stomach. Why? My two pre-school kids have been dropped off at the babysitter's and my house is a mess.

I've worked for 14 straight years with two months off each time to deliver and report back to work.

Quit? I can't unless we give up the art of eating. We'd have to forego necessities, not luxuries. My husband would have to work two jobs. I'd always be home and he'd NEVER be home. Settle for a part-time job? None to be had in this field.

I feel trapped. What's the answer? — Grass Looks Greener

Dear Grass: Maybe it's a part-time job in another field. Start looking, doll. "Trapped" people get ulcers, migraines, backaches and their kids are often victims of the anxiety and frustration.

"Sexual freedom" presents a difficult decision for teenagers and their parents. Ann Landers offers down-to-earth advice in her new booklet, "High School Sex And How To Deal With It — A Guide For Teens And Their Parents." For each booklet, send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Sept. 3rd, the 247th day of 1976. There are 119 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1783, the Treaty of Paris between the United States and Britain officially ended the Revolutionary War.

On this date:

In 1658, Oliver Cromwell, the Lord Protector of England, died.

In 1826, the first American warship to circle the world, the U.S.S. Vincennes, left New York on its four-year voyage.

In 1892, Britain assumed the protectorate over the Gilbert Islands in the central Pacific.

In 1916, in World War I, the Allies turned back the Germans at Verdun, in France.

In 1939, Britain and France declared war on Germany at the start of World War II.

In 1945, Singapore was returned to British control after being occupied by the Japanese since 1942.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson pledged federal help to improve the lot of rural Americans and to stem migration into overcrowded cities.

Five years ago: The United States, Russia, Britain and France signed an agreement on Berlin intended to end an era of confrontation in favor of a new relationship in Central Europe.

Today's birthdays: Former baseball player and manager Eddie Stanky is 59 years old. Singer Dorothy Maynor is 65.

Thought for today: We have no more right to consume happiness without producing it than to consume wealth without producing it — playwright George Bernard Shaw, 1856-1950.

Bicentennial footnote: two hundred years ago, Gen. George Washington warned that any individual guilty of cowardice, plundering or rioting would be punished.

THE RYATTS by Jack Elrod

Today in U.S. history

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Sept. 3rd, the 247th day of 1976. There are 119 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1783, the Treaty of Paris between the United States and Britain officially ended the Revolutionary War.

On this date:

In 1658, Oliver Cromwell, the Lord Protector of England, died.

In 1826, the first American warship to circle the world, the U.S.S. Vincennes, left New York on its four-year voyage.

In 1892, Britain assumed the protectorate over the Gilbert Islands in the central Pacific.

In 1916, in World War I, the Allies turned back the Germans at Verdun, in France.

In 1939, Britain and France declared war on Germany at the start of World War II.

In 1945, Singapore was returned to British control after being occupied by the Japanese since 1942.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon B. Johnson pledged federal help to improve the lot of rural Americans and to stem migration into overcrowded cities.

Five years ago: The United States, Russia, Britain and France signed an agreement on Berlin intended to end an era of confrontation in favor of a new relationship in Central Europe.

Today's birthdays: Former baseball player and manager Eddie Stanky is 59 years old. Singer Dorothy Maynor is 65.

Thought for today: We have no more right to consume happiness without producing it than to consume wealth without producing it — playwright George Bernard Shaw, 1856-1950.

Bicentennial footnote: two hundred years ago, Gen. George Washington warned that any individual guilty of cowardice, plundering or rioting would be punished.

BENTON — Following a telephone call from Roy W. Ragains, superintendent of the Scott County Central School District, reporting that the district's school bus drivers were afraid to cross a bridge in Vanduser due to its poor condition, the County Court inspected the bridge and directed the county highway department to make repairs.

Vanduser bridge unsafe for buses

BENTON — Following a telephone call from Roy W. Ragains, superintendent of the Scott County Central School District, reporting that the district's school bus drivers were afraid to cross a bridge in Vanduser due to its poor condition, the County Court inspected the bridge and directed the county highway department to make repairs.

After the call was received, First District Associate Judge Eldon Ziegenhorn of Sikeston and Wayne Diamond, the county highway supervisor, went to Vanduser and inspected the bridge in question, which belongs to the city of Vanduser.

Upon returning, Ziegenhorn reported that one corner of the bridge on the west side needs to be raised.

The County Court then directed Diamond to make the necessary repairs.

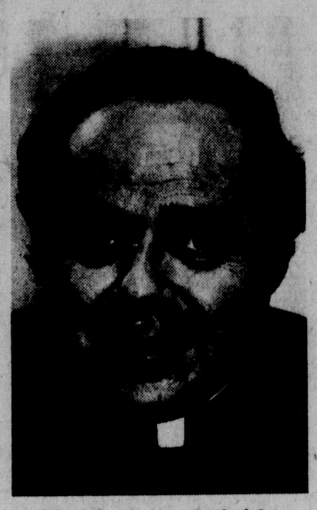
Father Shibley not a newcomer



The Rev. Amel Shibley

Assignment to Sikeston is not a new experience to the Rev. Amel Shibley, who recently returned as pastor of St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, 106 N. Stoddard St., where he previously was assigned from 1962 to 1964.

Prior to returning to the St. Francis Xavier parish, Father Shibley's last assignment was pastor of St. Eustachius parish at Portageville. Other parish assignments during his ministry have included St. Lawrence at New Hamburg, St. Agnes Cathedral in Springfield, St. Mary's Cathedral at Cape Girardeau, St. Catherine's in Piedmont and St. Ann's at Malden.

A native of New Madrid, Father Shibley attended Kenrick Seminary in St. Louis and was ordained to the priesthood in March 1962.

The priest says he is happy to be back in Sikeston and "is looking forward to a joyful assignment."

'Temple Scroll' may be important find

JERUSALEM (AP) — Scholars are awaiting publication this year of what they feel may be one of the most important Dead Sea Scrolls ever found.

The so-called "Temple Scroll" is expected to throw new light on life in the Holy Land around Christ's time.

The scroll is being deciphered by an Israeli archeologist, Prof. Yigael Yadin, who has been associated with the scrolls since they first were discovered in 1947 and were proclaimed the greatest find in the annals of Biblical history.

Yadin purchased the "Temple Scroll" from an Arab merchant in Bethlehem in 1967. The merchant had previously bought the scroll from Bedouin tribesmen who found it in a cave. From his archeological sources Yadin learned the merchant had the scroll and as soon as Israeli forces moved into Bethlehem in the 1967 Middle East war, he went there to bargain and make the purchase.

Yadin has disclosed some sections of it which illuminate in detail the Ten Commandments and the 603 Biblical orders on Jewish custom that are attached to them.

The scroll also carries exact specifications for the building of the great Jewish temple in Jerusalem.

The entire work will be published in English and Hebrew by the Hebrew University of Jerusalem and, in the words of one expert, will provide "dramatic new data" on the Essenes, the ascetic Jewish community that lived on the shores of the Dead Sea 20 miles east of Jerusalem and wrote the scrolls, which remained hidden for about 20 centuries.

The hiding places were chosen by the author, a monkish Jewish sect who fled the increasingly secular atmosphere of Jerusalem for the brooding silence and moon-like landscape of Qumran, on the Dead Sea.

Here they penned copies of the Jewish Torah, books of the prophets. commentaries on the Bible and works on Jewish customs and codes.

The Bible texts were the earliest known copies of the holy book, and in most cases were remarkably similar to the translations written centuries later and adopted by Judaism and Christianity.

Yadin's scroll also will add new demensions to the Book of Ezekiel and the story of the dry bones brought to life by God, says Prof. Eric Myers of Duke University in North Carolina and director of Jerusalem's W. F. Albright Institute of Archaeological Research.

Yadin is keeping the bulk of his work secret until publication, and no details are known of its content, other then the small sections Yadin has chosen to reveal in lectures.

The "Temple Scroll" is just one of 600 Dead Sea works found since the first scrolls were discovered by a Bedouin shepherd in a cave by the Dead Sea.

Clerical collar ban protested

NEW YORK (AP) — A "prophylactic measure," the state called it, to keep the courtroom atmosphere pure. But the Rev. Vincent La Rocca says it reflects a tendency in American public affairs to "erase every sign of religion."

"It's part of a complete secularizing of our institutional life," says the scrappy priest-criminal lawyer.

At issue is an order upheld in New York courts forbidding him from wearing his clerical collar while defending an indigent client on the ground that it might cause bias among the jurors.

"It's dehumanizing to a certain extent, taking away from me my identity," he says. "Laywers wear yarmulkes, Masonic rings, Brooks Brothers suits, cloaks, beards and maybe a Moslem fez. But a priest's collar is called prejudicial. There's not one fact to prove it."

Father La Rocca, 51, of Brooklyn, who says he is the only Roman Catholic priest in the country serving as a trial attorney, has petitioned the U.S. Supreme Court for a review of the case.

"I don't throw the name of God around in court, but I'm a priest functioning as a lawyer, and have a right to be one openly," he said in an interview, discussing his role as a lawyer for the Legal Aid Society.

In two years at that job, assigned to it by Brooklyn's Bishop Francis J. Mugavero, he has defended about 1,000 poor people, those accused who can't afford a private lawyer.

"It's the place where ministers should be involved," he said.

However, when a case Father La Rocca was handling came before Brooklyn Criminal Judge Morgan Lane for a jury trial last fall, the judge ordered the defense attorney to remove his collar before selection of a jury began.

That initiated a series of appeals and back-and-forth decisions, with the issue now before the nation's highest court.

He noted that a sign on court room walls says "In God we trust," yet a clerical collar is ruled out of bounds.

Dogs open tonight at Farmington

Sikeston football coach Terry Smith has pronounced his team ready for tonight's season opener against the Farmington Knights at Farmington. Kickoff time for the non-conference battle is 7:30.

"As far as attitude is concerned, the boys are ready for the game," Smith said about the Bulldogs, out to knock off the 3-A school for the first time since 1972. "I hope we're ready mechanically."

Despite the fact that less than three weeks have elapsed since the beginning of practice, the Bulldogs are ready for the game physically. The only exception is offensive tackle Hal Butler, who injured his right knee in practice Monday. Butler, a 207-pound senior, will miss tonight's game and also might not see action in the home opener next Friday evening against St. Thomas Aquinas of St. Louis. A capable replacement is on hand in Paul Sherman, however.

While hopes are high in the Sikeston camp this season, perennial weeper (and winner) Jack Richardson of Farmington again is less-than-enthusiastic about his team's chances against the Bulldogs tonight.

Only three starters are returning from last year's Knight team that beat the Bulldogs 14-0 in the opener and went on to rack up an 8-3 record, best in the Mineral Area Conference. They made it to the Class 3-A state playoffs, bowing to Union 24-8 in the opening round.

But of those starters, all three play both ways. Included in the trio are all-conference guard Greg McKinney, who also will probably be the club's number one rusher from his fullback spot on offense, and Randy Allen, who was all-conference last year as a defensive back. Allen is a halfback on offense. Those two will head up what will be a young defensive crew for the Knights.

On offense, Chris Wigger, a 170-pound senior, will head up a Farmington group that will probably try a little bit of everything. The Knights list two halfbacks and a fullback in their starting lineup, but Richardson warned that the fullhouse backfield wasn't their only formation. "We'll go some pro-set, some slot-I, some power-I, maybe some wing T--whatever happens to be working," said the ten-year veteran coach. Richardson's explanation of offensive football strategy is simple: "We'll run a play at you, and if it works, you can bet that you're gonna see it again before the night is through."

McKinney, a returning starter from 1975, will be the workhorse of the Farmington all-senior backfield. The other running backs are David Jones and Randy Allen. McKinney is the heaviest of the trio at 185.

Richardson said that he would be surprised if tonight's contest is not a sloppy affair. "They've moved the start of the season up on us a week, but they wouldn't move up the beginning of practice." While admitting that the ball-handling wouldn't be as sharp after three weeks of workouts as it would be after a month, Richardson also said that penalties might be a factor tonight, especially since the rules on blocking and tackling with the head and helmet are expected to be rigidly enforced this season.

Steelers again favored in AFC Central

AP Sports Writer

What a difference a decade makes.

Just look at the four teams in the Central Division of the American Football League.

In 1966, the mighty Cleveland Browns were aiming for their 10th berth in the National Football League title game. They failed; fullback Jimmy Brown decided to work with movie starlets instead of pulling guards, and subtle erosion began.

"I fully intend for the Browns to become a dynasty again, and I fully expect it," Cleveland owner Art Modell now says.

After a 3-11 record last year, worst in their history, the Browns have shown preseason improvement under Coach Forrest Gregg, who a decade ago was a rangy offensive tackle on the Green Bay team that won Super Bowl I.

The Houston Oilers finished 3-11 that year with a 39-year-old quarterback, George Blanda, branded by critics as over the hill.

Houston's current team is coming off a 10-4 season, and it figures to be a contender despite a winless preseason and assorted other maladies — like a stomach virus that left about two dozen players with double options early in training camp.

"When the bell rings, we'll be there," pledges Oilers Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips, who has the same crewcut he had in 1966.

The Cincinnati Bengals didn't exist in 1966. They were another innovation whirling around under the hat of Paul Brown, the founder and ex-coach of the Browns, who was then in retirement.

The Bengals await their ninth season as a prime contender for Super Bowl XI.

Brown, general manager and coach from the start, has handed the coaching reigns to Bill "Tiger" Johnson, who admits, "I'm following a tough act."

The last, and once least team, in the division has two tough acts to follow. That's the two-time Super Bowl champions, the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Their 1966 season marked the debut of another new coach, Bill Austin. Pittsburgh, a perennial also-ran under nice-guy owner Art Rooney, finished 5-8-1 that year, and their leading rusher was Bill Asbury.

That same season, a young assistant coach, who even then had a taste for fine wines and meticulous organization, joined Don Shula's staff at Baltimore.

His name was Chuck Noll, a former guard and linebacker at Cleveland.

Now Noll is trying to do what neither Shula nor Vince Lombardi did — guide his team to three straight Super Bowl titles.

The Steelers return every regular that won a Super Bowl X check, including linebacker Andy Russell, delaying his retirement one more year because he doesn't want to "wake up 20 years from now and tell myself, maybe you should have gone after that third straight Super Bowl."

Defensive tackle Joe Greene, who sustained a nerve injury last season that led to weakening of his left arm, is back, and his play has been erratic in preseason, like that of his defensive mates.

Steve Furness, who filled in ably for Greene last year, gives solid backup help.

The Steelers got more breathing room Thursday when they learned a delay had been granted in the scheduled Oct. 4 trial in Texas of their other defensive tackle, Ernie Holmes. Holmes is charged with possession of cocaine.

The trial now is expected to take place some time after the football season.

The other Steelers defenders all appear sound after assorted preseason injuries, including lean middle linebacker Jack Lambert, labeled by Noll as a "defender of the right" in Super Bowl X.

The offense features the familiar cast of quarterback Terry Bradshaw, receiver Lynn Swann and running back Franco Harris.

Gone is disgruntled backup quarterback Joe Gilliam, cut outright by Noll, but rookie Mike Kruczek appears an able backup, along with veteran Terry Hanratty.

Pittsburgh's top challenge could come from Cincinnati, which finished 11-3 a year ago and lost only to Pittsburgh, twice, and Cleveland en route to the "wild card" playoff berth.

Bill Johnson, the Bengals 50-year-old new head coach, earned all-pro honors centering to Y.A. Tittle at San Francisco.

Dogs open tonight at Farmington

Sikeston football coach Terry Smith has pronounced his team ready for tonight's season opener against the Farmington Knights at Farmington. Kickoff time for the non-conference battle is 7:30.

"As far as attitude is concerned, the boys are ready for the game," Smith said about the Bulldogs, out to knock off the 3-A school for the first time since 1972. "I hope we're ready mechanically."

Despite the fact that less than three weeks have elapsed since the beginning of practice, the Bulldogs are ready for the game physically. The only exception is offensive tackle Hal Butler, who injured his right knee in practice Monday. Butler, a 207-pound senior, will miss tonight's game and also might not see action in the home opener next Friday evening against St. Thomas Aquinas of St. Louis. A capable replacement is on hand in Paul Sherman, however.

While hopes are high in the Sikeston camp this season, perennial weeper (and winner) Jack Richardson of Farmington again is less-than-enthusiastic about his team's chances against the Bulldogs tonight.

Only three starters are returning from last year's Knight team that beat the Bulldogs 14-0 in the opener and went on to rack up an 8-3 record, best in the Mineral Area Conference. They made it to the Class 3-A state playoffs, bowing to Union 24-8 in the opening round.

But of those starters, all three play both ways. Included in the trio are all-conference guard Greg McKinney, who also will probably be the club's number one rusher from his fullback spot on offense, and Randy Allen, who was all-conference last year as a defensive back. Allen is a halfback on offense. Those two will head up what will be a young defensive crew for the Knights.

On offense, Chris Wigger, a 170-pound senior, will head up a Farmington group that will probably try a little bit of everything. The Knights list two halfbacks and a fullback in their starting lineup, but Richardson warned that the fullhouse backfield wasn't their only formation. "We'll go some pro-set, some slot-I, some power-I, maybe some wing T--whatever happens to be working," said the ten-year veteran coach. Richardson's explanation of offensive football strategy is simple: "We'll run a play at you, and if it works, you can bet that you're gonna see it again before the night is through."

McKinney, a returning starter from 1975, will be the workhorse of the Farmington all-senior backfield. The other running backs are David Jones and Randy Allen. McKinney is the heaviest of the trio at 185.

Richardson said that he would be surprised if tonight's contest is not a sloppy affair. "They've moved the start of the season up on us a week, but they wouldn't move up the beginning of practice." While admitting that the ball-handling wouldn't be as sharp after three weeks of workouts as it would be after a month, Richardson also said that penalties might be a factor tonight, especially since the rules on blocking and tackling with the head and helmet are expected to be rigidly enforced this season.

Daily Standard panel is back-ready or not

The Daily Standard Sports Panel of Experts (guess who made that name up) has returned once again. Yes, sports fans, prepare yourselves to be amazed that so much basic sports knowledge could reside in so limited a space as that between the ears of the three Sports Panel members.

Charlie "Chief" Francis, Dale "Bold Forb" Forbis and Stan "T-Bone" Hall will astound, amaze and maybe even anger you with their fearless predictions on the outcome of each and every game in the area.

If you haven't quit reading by now, we'll conclude the preliminaries and get right down to the nitty-gritty of the matter...clueing you in on the winner in each of Friday night's ten scheduled ballgames. Pay close attention, folks, this oughta be semi-good:

DE SOTO AT CAPE CENTRAL -- A clean sweep. Yessir, all three experts went for the Tigers, while simultaneously admitting they know nothing about DeSoto. Just think what this will do to your credibility, guys, if you're wrong.
CHIEF: Cape by 6.
BOLD FORB: Cape by 10.
T-BONE: Cape by 13.

CHARLESTON AT EAST PRAIRIE -- Chief, being a firm believer in coach Ed Nichols, has picked the Eagles by a point. An extra-point? The remaining two smirk while picking the Jays. Will the home team erase that smirk? I can hear the crowd now..."Erase that smirk! Erase that smirk!" We might have just made high school cheerleading history.
CHIEF: East Prairie by 1.
BOLD FORB: Charleston by 6.
T-BONE: Charleston 7.

DEXTER AT MALDEN -- Once a battle for all the Southern Division marbles, this is only an inter-divisional battle now. All of the terrible trio have opted for the Northern division Bearcats, with ex-Dexterite (for a year) Chief expressing belief that the arrival of coach Tom Thrower will send the program on a upswing.
CHIEF: Dexter by 14.
BOLD FORB: Dexter by 3.
T-BONE. Dexter by 6.

JACKSON AT CHAFFEE -- This is a toughie. The Indians are not as big as they used to be and everybody's back for the Red Devils. But, Jackson's rep is enough to sway two of the panel members. Again the Chief is the odd ball -- zat tell ya somethin', Chief?
CHIEF: Chaffee by 2.
BOLD FORB: Jackson by 4.
T-BONE: Jackson by 7.

PERRYVILLE AT FREDERICKTOWN -- Fredericktown didn't win a game last year and L. L. Baker at Perryville thinks his team will be better. That's enough for the valiant panel. Ev'rbody on the Bucco bandwagon.
CHIEF: Perryville by 3.
BOLD FORB: Perryville by 12
T-BONE: Perryville by 6.

FOX-ARNOLD AT POPLAR BLUFF -- A story about Fox in a St. Louis paper made them sound like they're ready to take on the football Cards. Poplar Bluff is good, but they probably aren't that good. Bold Forb gets really horsey and predicts a runaway.CHIEF: Fox by 10.
BOLD FORB: Fox by 16.
T-BONE: Fox by 6.

HAYTI AT GOSNELL, ARK.-- Coach Perry Gooch is a friend of T-Bone and T-Bone is the only panel member that sees the Hayti Indians beating the Arkansas team. Maybe ole T-Bone has been getting right down to the "meat" of the issue and knows something the others don't.
CHIEF: Gosnell by 7.
BOLD FORB: Gosnell by 9.
T-BONE: Hayti by 2.

SALEM, ARK. AT DONIPHAN -- "It's hard to go against coach Rickus," says T-Bone, but the newest panel member forsakes friendship for hard, cold reality while picking Salem to beat the Dons.
CHIEF: Doniphan by 7.
BOLD FORB: Doniphan by 1.
T-BONE: Salem by 6.

SOUTH PEMISCOT AT RECTOR, ARKANSAS -- It's one thing not to get along, but there's a 31-point difference between the predictions of the Chief and Bold Forb.That happens when one deals with temperamental experts.
CHIEF: South Pem by 10.
BOLD FORB: Rector by 21.
T-BONE: Rector by 6.

AND FINALLY, SIKESTON AT FARMINGTON -- Not one panel member had the guts to go against the Bulldogs. "Have you seen how big those guys are?" Everyone picked Sikeston and, considering how well coach Smith likes to be favored for anything, they'll probably roll dice to see who "gets" to go interview him next week. Seriously, we do wish SHS good luck and predict the outcome will be:
CHIEF: Sikeston by 6.
BOLD FORB: Sikeston by 13.
T-BONE: Sikeston by 20.

Tune in next week when the panel will enlighten, entertain and explode the theory that "sportswriters don't know nothing!"

This panel does. Uh, doesn't. Whatever.

The Stingers also got the rights to negotiate with Czechoslovakia's high scoring center Ivan Hlinka. Hlinka is in North American with the Czech World Cup Tournament team, the Stingers said.

Cardinals to test young Chiefs in final tune-up

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jim Hart's passes promise to pose some of the problems for Coach Paul Wiggin's young Kansas City Chiefs tonight but unfortunately not all.

With the start of the regular National Football League season nine days off, the 40-year-old Wiggin admits his team is still in need of preparation.

"We've got to do a better job in every area if we're going to be ready," Wiggin said while grooming the Chiefs for their final preseason tuneup against the St. Louis Cardinals.

"There aren't too many good things to talk about. One, though, is that I think we've been a team that hasn't performed on numerous occasions the way we hope but we haven't lost the will to win."

Kansas City, 2-3, has thus far failed to generate the type of offense needed to lift the team from its 5-9 mediocrity of last season.

And unresolved as the Chiefs bowed 23-21 last week to the Detroit Lions was the quarterback battle between Mike Livingston and Tony Adams.

"You've got to give quarterbacks time," Wiggin said after watching Detroit's defense sack Livingston and Adams six times and score on an intercepted pass.

Charleston & Vanduser knocked out of tourney

The Charleston Athletics and Vanduser were eliminated, while the Bank of Sikeston remained undefeated as the Sikeston Fastpitch Softball League Invitational Softball Tournament continued Thursday night at the complex.

Larry Wilson tripled in thetop of the twelfth and scored on Don Smith's sacrifice fly as the Bank of Sikeston scored twice to break a 4-4 tie and beat the Benton Aces 6-4. Charles Swartz outhurled Rod LeGrand to get the victory.

Steward Steel rode the one-hit pitching of Vernie Deane as they blanked the Charleston Athletics 3-0 in the loser's bracket. Steward scored one in the first and two in the fourth.

The 76'ers scored in every inning but the fourth as they eliminated Vanduser with a 9-4 victory. Tom Stinnett was the winning hurler, with David Pobst taking the loss. Jim May clouted a three-run homer for Vanduser in the second inning.

Kelso's Rick Dohogne doubled in the eighth inning to score Rick Swartz and gave his team a 5-4 victory over the Sikeston Saints in an extra-inning contest. Each team scored three times in the third inning to set up a 4-4 tie after seven and force the extra-inning. Mike Jobe got the victory, while Leroy Walker was the loser.

Tonight, Marks Food Mart takes on the 76'ers at 7:30 in the loser's bracket, while the Bank of Sikeston meets Steward Steel in another loser's game at 7:30 on the other field. The Eagles meet Kelso in the battle of unbeatens at 9:00.

Tigers schedule scrimmage

By The Associated Press
Nolan Cromwell, the key to the Kansas offense, will be doing more than running and passing Saturday night against Oregon State — but Coach Bud Moore hopes not much more.
Cromwell beat out Mike Hubach and Bill Lillis for the Kansas punting job, Moore announced Thursday after practice, and will be handling those duties when the Jayhawks kick off their 1976 campaign in Corvallis, Ore.
But there is still some question whether Cromwell will be completely healthy for the encounter. One source said Thursday that the senior from Ransom, Kan., broke his nose during practice, but Moore would make no comment on the matter.
Crowmwell has been practicing all week with the team.
Moore also said Hubach, a freshman, would do the placekicking for Kansas against Oregon State, while 1975 starter Dennis Kerbel stayed in Lawrence.
Kansas State held its final full scrimmage for Saturday and both defensive tackle Keith Morrissey and lineback Tom Hodge may play.
The Tigers open their season Sept. 11 against Southern California.
Kicking was the focal point Thursday at Oklahoma State, with punter Cliff Parley and place-kicker Abby Daigle in the spotlight.
"We feel like the kicking game will be one of our weapons this year," said O-State Coach Jim Stanley. "So we'll use the talents of Daigle and Parsley without hesitation."

Charlie Francis, Daily Standard sports editor, consults with a famous oddsmaker about tonight's area high school football games. "Jimmy? Whatarya quotin' on the Chaffee-Jackson game?"

Daily Standard panel is back-ready or not

The Daily Standard Sports Panel of Experts (guess who made that name up) has returned once again. Yes, sports fans, prepare yourselves to be amazed that so much basic sports knowledge could reside in so limited a space as that between the ears of the three Sports Panel members.

Charlie "Chief" Francis, Dale "Bold Forb" Forbis and Stan "T-Bone" Hall will astound, amaze and maybe even anger you with their fearless predictions on the outcome of each and every game in the area.

If you haven't quit reading by now, we'll conclude the preliminaries and get right down to the nitty-gritty of the matter...clueing you in on the winner in each of Friday night's ten scheduled ballgames. Pay close attention, folks, this oughta be semi-good:

DE SOTO AT CAPE CENTRAL --- A clean sweep. Yessir, all three experts went for the Tigers, while simultaneously admitting they know nothing about DeSoto. Just think what this will do to your credibility, guys, if you're wrong.

CHIEF: Cape by 6.
BOLD FORB: Cape by 10.
T-BONE: Cape by 13.

CHARLESTON AT EAST PRAIRIE --- Chief, being a firm believer in coach Ed Nichols, has picked the Eagles by a point. An extra-point? The remaining two smirk while picking the Jays. Will the home team erase that smirk? I can hear the crowd now..."Erase that smirk! Erase that smirk!" We might have just made high school cheerleading history.

CHIEF: East Prairie by 1.
BOLD FORB: Charleston by 6.
T-BONE: Charleston 7.

DEXTER AT MALDEN --- Once a battle for all the Southern Division marbles, this is only an inter-divisional battle now. All of the terrible trio have opted for the Northern division Bearcats, with ex-Dexterite (for a year) Chief expressing belief that the arrival of coach Tom Thrower will send the program on a upswing.

CHIEF: Dexter by 14.
BOLD FORB: Dexter by 3.
T-BONE. Dexter by 6.

JACKSON AT CHAFFEE --- This is a toughie. The Indians are not as big as they used to be and everybody's back for the Red Devils. But, Jackson's rep is enough to sway two of the panel members. Again the Chief is the odd ball --- zat tell ya somethin', Chief?

CHIEF: Chaffee by 2.
BOLD FORB: Jackson by 4.
T-BONE: Jackson by 7.

PERRYVILLE AT FREDERICKTOWN --- Fredericktown didn't win a game last year and L. L. Baker at Perryville thinks his team will be better. That's enough for the valiant panel. Ev'rbody on the Bucco bandwagon.

CHIEF: Perryville by 3.
BOLD FORB: Perryville by 12
T-BONE: Perryville by 6.

FOX-ARNOLD AT POPLAR BLUFF --- A story about Fox in a St. Louis paper made them sound like they're ready to take on the football Cards. Poplar Bluff is good, but they probably aren't that good. Bold Forb gets really horsey and predicts a runaway.CHIEF: Fox by 10.
BOLD FORB: Fox by 16.
T-BONE: Fox by 6.

HAYTI AT GOSNELL, ARK.--Coach Perry Gooch is a friend of T-Bone and T-Bone is the only panel member that sees the Hayti Indians beating the Arkansas team. Maybe ole T-Bone has been getting right down to the "meat" of the issue and knows something the others don't.

CHIEF: Gosnell by 7.
BOLD FORB: Gosnell by 9.
T-BONE: Hayti by 2.

SALEM, ARK. AT DONIPHAN --- "It's hard to go against coach Rickus," says T-Bone, but the newest panel member forsakes friendship for hard, cold reality while picking Salem to beat the Dons.

CHIEF: Doniphan by 7.
BOLD FORB: Doniphan by 1.
T-BONE: Salem by 6.

SOUTH PEMISCOT AT RECTOR, ARKANSAS -- It's one thing not to get along, but there's a 31-point difference between the predictions of the Chief and Bold Forb.That happens when one deals with temperamental experts.

CHIEF: South Pem by 10.
BOLD FORB: Rector by 21.
T-BONE: Rector by 6.

AND FINALLY, SIKESTON AT FARMINGTON --- Not one panel member had the guts to go against the Bulldogs. "Have you seen how big those guys are?" Everyone picked Sikeston and, considering how well coach Smith likes to be favored for anything, they'll probably roll dice to see who "gets" to go interview him next week. Seriously, we do wish SHS good luck and predict the outcome will be:

CHIEF: Sikeston by 6.
BOLD FORB: Sikeston by 13.
T-BONE: Sikeston by 20.

Tune in next week when the panel will enlighten, entertain and explode the theory that "sportswriters don't know nothing!"

This panel does. Uh, doesn't. Whatever.

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Russell Blair III, a former University of Mississippi tennis player, has been named coach of the Ole Miss tennis team.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bryan Maxwell, a 21-year-old defenseman, has been obtained by the Cincinnati Stingers of the World Hockey Association from the Minnesota Fighting Saints for a player and cash, the Stingers announced Friday.

The Stingers sent veteran right winger Johnny McKenzie, 39, and an undisclosed sum of cash to Minnesota.

The Stingers also got the rights to negotiate with Czechoslovakia's high scoring center Ivan Hlinka. Hlinka is in North American with the Czech World Cup Tournament team, the Stingers said.

The Stingers also said Maxwell, 6-foot-3, 210 pounds, has signed a five-year contract.

Cardinals to test young Chiefs in final tune-up

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Jim Hart's passes promise to pose some of the problems for Coach Paul Wiggin's young Kansas City Chiefs tonight but unfortunately not all.

With the start of the regular National Football League season nine days off, the 40-year-old Wiggin admits his team is still in need of preparation.

"We've got to do a better job in every area if we're going to be ready," Wiggin said while grooming the Chiefs for their final preseason tuneup against the St. Louis Cardinals.

"There aren't too many good things to talk about. One, though, is that I think we've been a team that hasn't performed on numerous occasions the way we hope but we haven't lost the will to win."

Kansas City, 2-3, has thus far failed to generate the type of offense needed to lift the team from its 5-9 mediocrity of last season.

And unresolved as the Chiefs bowed 23-21 last week to the Detroit Lions was the quarterback battle between Mike Livingston and Tony Adams.

"You've got to give quarterbacks time," Wiggin said after watching Detroit's defense sack Livingston and Adams six times and score on an intercepted pass.

Charleston & Vanduser knocked out of tourney

The Charleston Athletics and Vanduser were eliminated, while the Bank of Sikeston remained undefeated as the Sikeston Fastpitch Softball League Invitational Softball Tournament continued Thursday night at the complex.

Larry Wilson tripled in thetop of the twelfth and scored on Don Smith's sacrifice fly as the Bank of Sikeston scored twice to break a 4-4 tie and beat the Benton Aces 6-4. Charles Swartz outhurled Rod LeGrand to get the victory.

Steward Steel rode the one-hit pitching of Vernie Deane as they blanked the Charleston Athletics 3-0 in the loser's bracket. Steward scored one in the first and two in the fourth.

The 76'ers scored in every inning but the fourth as they eliminated Vanduser with a 9-4 victory. Tom Stinnett was the winning hurler, with David Pobst taking the loss. Jim May clouted a three-run homer for Vanduser in the second inning.

Kelso's Rick Dohogne doubled in the eighth inning to score Rick Swartz and gave his team a 5-4 victory over the Sikeston Saints in an extra-inning contest. Each team scored three times in the third inning to set up a 4-4 tie after seven and force the extra-inning. Mike Jobe got the victory, while Leroy Walker was the loser.

Tonight, Marks Food Mart takes on the 76'ers at 7:30 in the loser's bracket, while the Bank of Sikeston meets Steward Steel in another loser's game at 7:30 on the other field. The Eagles meet Kelso in the battle of unbeatens at 9:00.

Tigers schedule scrimmage

By The Associated Press

Nolan Cromwell, the key to the Kansas offense, will be doing more than running and passing Saturday night against Oregon State — but Coach Bud Moore hopes not much more.

Cromwell beat out Mike Hubach and Bill Lillis for the Kansas punting job, Moore announced Thursday after practice, and will be handling those duties when the Jayhawks kick off their 1976 campaign in Corvallis, Ore.

But there is still some question whether Cromwell will be completely healthy for the encounter. One source said Thursday that the senior from Ransom, Kan., broke his nose during practice, but Moore would make no comment on the matter.

Crowmwell has been practicing all week with the team.

Moore also said Hubach, a freshman, would do the placekicking for Kansas against Oregon State, while 1975 starter Dennis Kerbel stayed in Lawrence.

Kansas State held its final full scrimmage before the Wildcats' Sept. 11 battle with Brigham Young and the result was a lopsided 52-6 win for the varsity.

Standing out was freshman fullback Roosevelt Duncan who scampered for 162 yards on eight carries, including touchdown rambles of 80 and 26 yards.

"We didn't have a lot of sustained drives and that concerns me," said K-State Coach Ellis Rainsbberger. "But we broke some big plays."

At Missouri, the Tigers scheduled a game-type scrimmage for Saturday and both defensive tackle Keith Morrissey and lineback Tom Hodge may play.

The Tigers open their season Sept. 11 against Southern California.

Kicking was the focal point Thursday at Oklahoma State, with punter Cliff Parley and place-kicker Abby Daigle in the spotlight.

"We feel like the kicking game will be one of our weapons this year," said O-State Coach Jim Stanley. "So we'll use the talents of Daigle and Parsley without hesitation."

MU cagers to play in Argentina

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The University of Missouri Tigers will fly the colors of the United States in the R. William Jones Cup International Basketball Tournament Oct. 1-5 in Buenos Aires, Argentina.

The Tigers were selected to compete against teams from Africa, Spain, Brazil, Argentina and Italy by the U.S. Amateur Basketball Association. The University of Pennsylvania represented the United States last year when the tournament was played in Italy.

The tournament is held annually in conjunction with the Oct. 5 birthday of Dr. Jones of Great Britain, who retired recently as executive director of the International Federation of Amateur Basketball.

Fort Stanwix, overlooking the Mohawk River at Rome, N.Y., was built by the British during the French and Indian War. Americans realized its strategic value and by Aug. 1, 1777, the fort was occupied by them. After ambushing American Gen. Herkimer's militia on Aug. 6, British Gen. St. Leger maintained a seige on the fort but was unable to take possession. Finally, on August 23, faced with the wholesale desertion of his Indian allies and the approach of Arnold's relief column, St. Leger abandoned Fort Stanwix and fled to Canada, The World Almanac reports.

Fort Stanwix, overlooking the Mohawk River at Rome, N.Y., was built by the British during the French and Indian War. Americans realized its strategic value and by Aug. 1, 1777, the fort was occupied by them. After ambushing American Gen. Herkimer's militia on Aug. 6, British Gen. St. Leger maintained a seige on the fort but was unable to take possession. Finally, on August 23, faced with the wholesale desertion of his Indian allies and the approach of Arnold's relief column, St. Leger abandoned Fort Stanwix and fled to Canada, The World Almanac reports.
